

Primary Class Teacher – Maternity Cover

Do you want to combine your love of teaching with working in a beautiful, traditional part of Andalucía, Spain?

The British School of Córdoba is looking to recruit an experienced primary class teacher. The ideal candidate will have recent experience of delivering the British National Curriculum in a dynamic British/International school environment.

This is a short term (January 2023 – end of June 2023) maternity cover and for that reason we are unable to process visa applications for this post. The candidate will therefore need to be an EU citizen or currently be living in Spain with residency status.

The British School of Córdoba, is a leading full school (3-18) with approximately 450 pupils on roll and serves the historic city of Córdoba in Andalucía. The school has established itself as a leading private school in the area, offering a high-quality British education that prides itself on its child-centered learning and excellent university entry results, both for Spanish and International Universities.

This post offers an opportunity for the right candidate to enjoy teaching motivated, genuinely interested students and working in a supportive and friendly team.
