

The British School
of Córdoba

Mathematics Teacher, Spain

The British School of Córdoba is looking to recruit an experienced Mathematics teacher for September 2024. This post will involve teaching mathematics to students at Key Stage 3, IGCSE and the IB Diploma.

The British School of Córdoba, is a through school (2-18) with approximately 450 pupils on roll and serves the historic, World Heritage city of Córdoba in Andalucía. The school has established itself as a leading private school in the area, offering a high-quality British education that prides itself on its child-centered learning and excellent university entry results, both for Spanish and International Universities.

The contract will be a full time teacher based on an annual gross salary of 26.923'42€.

Person Specification:

We are looking for a qualified, experienced and enthusiastic teacher to join our team. Someone who wants to be part of a supportive team with a child centred approach to teaching and learning. Experience of using learning platforms such as Google Classroom and management systems such as ISAMS is an advantage, but not essential.

Job description:

- Planning, teaching and classroom management.
- Monitoring, assessment, recording and reporting.
- Curriculum development.
- Pastoral care.
- Taking part in extracurricular activities such as excursions and sports days.
- Continued professional development.

Person Specification

- Be a qualified teacher and have recent experience of teaching mathematics up to and including Key Stage 5, ideally with IB DP experience.
- Have experience of teaching within a British or International school environment.
- Have appropriate mathematics and teaching qualifications.
- Be a first language English speaker or have proven excellent English language skills.
- Have excellent subject knowledge.
- Have strong classroom management skills.
- Be able to participate in the full life of a busy school.
- Have a commitment to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of young people, this application process will require suitable references, police checks and/or DBS certificates.

The British School
of Córdoba

Preference may be given to candidates that hold an EU passport or currently hold Spanish residency status. Please see our website for more information.

Whilst all lessons are taught in English a knowledge of Spanish would be an advantage, but is not essential.

Application Process

Our selection process starts with an informal video meeting with our Principal, Mrs. Ward.

All applications are subject to safeguarding checks including recent DBS or equivalent police checks.